

FIORI SELF-LOADING MIXERS AND ASTEC COMPACT TRENCHERS FOR NEW ZEALAND

Semco Equipment Sales in Sydney has added New Zealand to its sales territory for two major earthmoving brands, the US manufactured ASTEC compact trenchers and Italian made FIORI self-loading concrete mixers.

The company's Graham Murphy said "As Semco is the supplier, importer and distributor, buyers benefit from the competitive prices without dealer margins. We can fly across the Tasman and have a qualified trainer install the machines and train customers' operators and maintenance teams on the job; all included in a competitive price.

Semco fully supports equipment purchases. Our on-site inventory of essential maintenance and breakdown parts ensures minor issues are resolved very quickly and we have access to specialised local contractors with mobile service throughout New Zealand.

We can also fly in our maintenance technician overnight in a similar time frame as our service within Australia. With our head office in Sydney, overnight airfreight of parts is also not a problem".

Semco distributes the complete Astec compact model range, from the RT60 WALK-BEHIND up to the RT1160 "EarthPro" Series Ride-On. Fiori equipment is well suited to rural and remote areas where on-site concrete production is an attractive alternative to trucking mix over long distances.

"We are also able to provide competitive finance and insurance facilities through our own Semco Financial Division" said Murphy.
