

TURF MOWER IDEAL FOR PARK MAINTENANCE

The new compact Maxxfarm tractor range from Case IH is now available exclusively from Semco Equipment Sales in the greater Sydney area, ACT and Southern NSW.

The Maxxfarm 60 is the ideal small tractor for mowing and maintaining grassed public spaces in council areas," says Satch Santilli of Semco.

"This is the first release by Case of a compact 60hp tractor that's safe to operate, air conditioned, compact and economical enough for local council work. Equipped with a roll over cab or optional OROPS version with sunshade canopy, it's a lightweight, powerful little tractor that is comfortable and efficient.

When fitted with low ground pressure turf tyres, the Maxxfarm won't damage turf when working on parks and gardens. Its relatively low profile lets the operator mow around trees without damage to the cab that is often caused by low hanging branches."

Semco says the Maxxfarm 60 is small enough to go into sheds and with its creeper transmission as standard equipment, can be used for cultivation of garden beds.

A multiple speed PTO enables sprayers and high powered tillers to be operated for a range of horticultural operations in reserves, golf courses, memorial parks and other public recreational spaces.

The Maxxfarm 60 is supplied with a fully fitted cab with air conditioning, sunroof, dual doors and wide-opening rear windows. According to Semco, all models are easy to service thanks to thoughtful engine layout. A one-touch bonnet and gas strut provides easy access to all key service points.
